A Tragic Death

On the 19th of April last year, 18 year-old Josh Park-Fing tragically died at his Government-approved Work for the Dole site in Toowoomba.

Distraught family members and shocked members of the public demanded answers. Minister of Employment Michaelia Cash promised to conduct an investigation, and to publish a report within a month. A year has passed, and the Park-Fing family, Josh's friends, and the general public are still waiting.

A Dangerous and Ineffective Program

Work for the Dole is dangerous - in 2016, the number of injuries sustained at Work for the Dole sites was 5 times higher than in the previous year. According to a recent government commissioned report by Ernst and Young, 36% of Work For The Dole activities do not meet basic safety standards. Work for the Dole is also senseless - a government report found that the program increased chances of employment by only 2%!
